DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the means for independently controlling must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Objections

Claims 5-7 and 10 are objected to because of the following informalities: The claims depend from a canceled claim. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 4-14, 16-18, 20 and 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Tsuji et al. in view of Shelton.

There is disclosed in Tsuji a vapor heat apparatus for killing insects or eggs on fruit, the apparatus comprising: a fruit processing chamber 1 housing fruit storage units (rows of stacked containers 20); air conditioning chambers provided with a heater 10.2 and fan 10.4, each air conditioning unit in communication with one of the storage units; air circulation units 4, 5, 10 for independently and forcedly blowing air through each storage unit, each air circulation unit including means 10.3 for supplying an amount of saturated vapor and temperature and humidity regulators 10; and means (programmable controller, not shown) for independently controlling the relative humidity in each of the storage units by controlling the amount of vapor supplied and a heat exchanging rate of the heater.

Shelton discloses that it is known in a food conditioning apparatus to use a means 24 for sensing a temperature of a food item (col. 5, lines 55-63) within a chamber, a means 79 for sensing a temperature of air passing into the chamber, and means 69 for sensing a relative humidity of air in the chamber; wherein the sensing means deliver a signal to a control apparatus 25 for regulating a vapor supply means 13, 14 and a heat exchanging rate of a heater 22. Therefore maintaining a desired environment within the chamber.

It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to provide the apparatus of Tsuji with the temperature sensors and humidity sensor taught in Shelton, for the purpose of providing more precise control of the air within the fruit processing chamber.

In regards to claims 5, 7, 8, 10, 12-14, 16-18, 20 and 21, the claims contain functional recitations with regard to how the device is operated. Such recitations provide no structural limitations to the claims.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 15 and 19 are allowed.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The patents to Smith et al, Bolkestein, Bianco, Perryman, Jr., Handl et al. and Hullstrung are cited for their disclosure of the state of the art.
